At Cambridge, Dorchester county, Maryland, on Monday last, a man named Seabrook Bell quarrelled with his hired man, John Rook, at the table, about victuals. A scuffle ensued, when Rook seized Bell's axe and literally chopped Bell to pieces. He gave himself up, was imprisoned, and, while the Coroner was holding an inquest, committed suicide in his cell by hanging himself with strips of bed clothes.

Joseph Brown, murderer of Angie Stewart, alias Brown, was executed on Saturday, at Hudson, N. Y. He states that he has resolved to retire forever from public life, and denies and disproves many allegations of cruelty attributed to him. The San Francisco Bulletin and Alta pronounce the Garrison quicksilver land claim now before Congress a fraud, and show by records that it has been so declared by United States Courts in California. The claim has, moreover been moved from its original location to cover the New Idria quicksilver mines. The plea for the bill on the ground of preventing a quicksilver monopoly by the New Almaden Company is met by stating that three or four other mines are now producing quicksilver in California, and it is estimated ten different furnaces will be in operation before the close of the present year.

Republican ratification meetings are being held throughout California.

Munson's force consisted of fifty men belonging to the Ninth Infantry and Eighth Cavalry. The Indians, who occupied a strong position in the mountains, were driven from it after four hours' fighting, with a loss of several killed. The troops lost one killed and two wounded. General Schofield's Confirmation.

Gen. Schofield to Enter Upon His Duties To-Day.

The Butler-Wooley Wrangle.

Report of Indian Peace Commission.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 30, 1868.

Confirmation of General Schofield.

The entire proceedings in the Senate yesterday on the War Department matter have come to light. It appears that the first proposition voted on was that of Mr. Stewart, as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate advise and consent to the appointment of John M. Schofield as Secretary of War in place of Edwin M. Stanton, who has been forced to retire from the discharge of the duties of said office by reason of illegal and unconstitutional acts of the President. This was lost by yeas 20, nays 22, the yeas being Cameron, Cattell, Cole, Conkling, Cameron, Cragin, Morrill, Vt., Patterson, N. H., Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Wade, Williams, Wilson and Yates, and nays being Anthony, Buckalew, Corbett, Doolittle, Edmunds, Fowler, Frelinghuysen, Henderson, Hendricks, Johnson, McCreery, Morgan, Morton, Norton, Patterson, of Tennessee, Sprague, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers and Willey.

It was urged by Stewart and others in support of his proposition, that it was the natural consequence of the vote on impeachment, and that it should be supported by all who voted for conviction. It will be seen that it was voted against and killed by Anthony, Corbett, Edmunds, Frelinghuysen, Morgan, Morton, Sprague and Willey, all of whom voted for impeachment. The action of these gentlemen causes a good deal of comment among the cordial radical impeachment members of the House. Of the eight thus voting, Messrs. Anthony, Morton, Sprague and Willey voted on the night of the twenty-first of February, that the President had no power to remove the Secretary of War; while Corbett, Frelinghuysen and Morgan were then absent.

The Stewart resolution having been defeated, Mr. Edmunds then brought forward his preamble and resolution, the latter being in the usual form, and simply confirming the nomination, which was agreed to by yeas 35, nays 5. All Republicans who voted were in the affirmative. The two negative votes were McCreery and Norton, both Democrats, while Buckalew, Doolittle, Hendricks, Johnson, Patterson of Tennessee, and Vickers, also Democrats, voted in the affirmative. The Edmunds preamble, which merely declares that Stanton has relinquished the office, but has not been legally removed, was then adopted by yeas 28, nays 13, the Senators present taking sides as on impeachment. A certified copy of the preamble and resolution was sent to the President this afternoon.

The War Office.

The rooms of the Secretary of War are still kept closed by General Townsend, and that all interested might have an opportunity to attend the ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery, very little business was done at the department to-day. Gen. Schofield arrived here this evening, accompanied by Gen. J. A. Campbell, of his staff. He will enter upon his duties on Monday.

The Butler-Wooley Wrangle.

The House had another wrangle to-day on the Butler-Wooley affair. It grew out of a telegram sent to Wooley from some bombastic persons in New York, a copy of which Wooley forwarded to Butler, who conceived that the House had been insulted in the person of one of its Committeemen, and straightforward demanded that an order should be passed prohibiting Wooley from receiving any letter or telegram until it had been inspected by the Speaker. He actually hoped to get this through, but Speaker Colfax said he would not open a single letter or telegram, even if ordered to do so by the House. Mr. Blair spoke at once in behalf of Colfax on the Republican side of the House, and denounced the proposition in strong terms, and was subsequently followed by Mr. Poland in the same strain. Mr. Butler then moderated his tone, and after debate of an hour and a half he was obliged to content himself with a reiteration substantially of the order he got yesterday, that Wooley should be under charge of the Sergeant-at-Arms, and see nobody but counsel and members of his family.

Report of Indian Commissioners.

General Sherman has sent a preliminary report of the business of the Indian Peace Commissioners this spring, in which he uses the following language about the general situation: "I was of the opinion and still am of the opinion that the Peace Commissioners should do little or nothing more till our report to Congress of last December, with the bill reported by Mr. Henderson, have been fully and freely discussed in Congress and action taken in favor of the law. The Indians finding our general promises not sustained by facts, are naturally tending to the conclusion that the threats and promises held out are of the same nature as others of this kind in former time. Still, as a rule, those whom we met last year seem to act on their promises of peace, whereas others whom we did not meet and have not seen are as mistrustful and seemingly hostile as ever. Several murders and robberies have occurred along the line of the railroad, and the people generally ridicule our efforts at peace, and think we are deliberately deluded and deceived by those who have signed treaties. I do not apprehend any general war this year—only predatory bands of thieving or murdering Indians which people in this vast and scarcely inhabited region should be prepared to resist. In time we must take those wild Indians in hand. I will do all that is possible to give general protection, especially to the rapid completion and progress of the Pacific Railroad but it were idle to undertake to random every horse thief or to protect what are termed the ranches scattered at wide distances along the road occasionally traversed by trains of wagons. The Pacific Railroad does not make settlement in the strict sense of the term. Every twenty miles there is a station where a few men are kept to repair parties, but they are so dispersed that they are a weakness instead of a strength. They are all clamorous for protection, and Gen. Augur has been forced to place soldiers at nearly every station outside of Omaha. The great advantage of the railroad is that it gives us rapid communication and cannot be stolen like horses and mules of trains as of old. But the people along it are much exposed to depredating bands of hostile Indians. They always charge their losses to the friendly Indians, who have been collected near, and it is for this reason that I deem it so essential to remove them at once, even at our military expense, without awaiting the lawful but slow action of Congress."

Trip Postponed.

Senator Henderson has deferred his trip West for the present, until the question of adjournment is settled. The Sherman funding bill from the Finance Committee, will come up on Tuesday, and that also detains Henderson.

The Washburne-Donnelly Affair.

The Washburne-Donnelly Investigating Committee has determined to ask to be discharged from further consideration of the subject. They found in regard to what took place in the House that Mr. Donnelly withdrew the offensive portions of his speech, and disclaimed any imputation upon the honesty, integrity or private character of Mr. Washburne, whereupon the latter gentleman withdrew what he said about Donnelly. This disposed of the matter so far as to what occurred in debate was concerned, but left remaining the letter written by Mr. Washburne, which the committee next considered. They found it is no charge of bribery or corruption against Mr. Donnelly as a member of Congress, but only charges touching his action and character years before he came to Congress, and thereupon determined that such matters were not a proper subject of investigation by the House. Mr. Donnelly asked their investigation, and Mr. Washburne held himself ready to show the grounds of his allegations with fullest inquiry, by calling witnesses to sustain all his charges. The committee refused, however, to enter upon the investigation, and directed the chairman to ask the House to discharge them from further consideration of the subject. It appears that Donnelly has printed in a pamphlet copy of his speech, one of the most offensive portions publicly withdrawn in the House, and it is possible that his conduct in this regard may be made a matter of further action in that body, as it is charged that he has subjected himself to its censure by such a course. Mr. Washburne leaves here to-morrow for a week or ten days in order to take his family to Maine, where they will spend the summer.

Burial of Confederate Dead.

The report of John Jay, special commissioner on behalf of New York, in the Antietam Soldiers' Cemetery Association, is made public. He says Maryland, New York, Wisconsin, Michigan, Vermont, Indiana and Minnesota voted in a late meeting to set apart a portion of the Cemetery grounds for the burial of the Confederate dead, and Ohio and West Virginia against the proposition. The report then continues: "I waited upon Gen. Grant, submitted to him the fact, and asked if the department could render in this case the same assistance which they had already given in the case of the Union dead. Gen. Grant expressed his decided approval of the fulfilment by the trustees of the provision and intent of the charter in this particular, and his own readiness to give them whatever assistance he could render, but he advised us that the precise employment of the United States burial corps had been in pursuance of a general act of Congress providing for the burial of the Union dead throughout the country, and that the Department was without authority and without funds for the work in question. In answer to a question as to the advisability of an application to Congress to make an appropriation for the purpose, he referred to the determined spirit of retrenchment at present prevailing at the capital as rendering success of such a proposition at this time extremely doubtful. This opinion of General Grant was confirmed by Senators and Representatives with whom I advised. Whether the Southern States, as at present constituted, will notice the action of the board in allotting grounds for the interment of their dead, and respond to it by appropriations for that purpose, is perhaps a matter of uncertainty. In case no such appropriations should be made by the present governments of those States, and, if reconstruction from any cause be postponed beyond the present session, I think it clear that the work of gathering up and decently interring in the cemetery grounds set apart for that purpose the remains of the Confederate dead, may in such cases be regarded as a work which the humanity and the honor of the Northern States, whose troops were victorious in that contest, require them promptly to undertake. The interment of those remains is a matter that closely concerns the national character, and one with which the passing politics of the day have no right, and I trust no disposition, to intermeddle."

Gen. Schofield and His Late Command.

General Schofield will take charge of the War office to-morrow morning, and there is a great deal of good feeling over the fact. The President will issue his commission at once. Gen. William W. Wherry, of his staff, will be put on duty in the Department, but otherwise no changes will be made for the present. The understanding now is that Gen. Stoneman, at present commanding the sub-district at Petersburg, and next officer after Mr. Schofield in rank, will be placed in command at Richmond. In case this is done there will be no change in the general administration of affairs in Virginia. General Stoneman's friends are strongly urging him for command in Richmond, and Gordon Granger is trying to have Gen. Howard sent there, so as to have himself placed in charge of the Freedmen's Bureau. The probabilities are, however, that Gen. Stoneman will be left in command as Buchanan has been in Louisiana.

Secretary Seward's Resignation.

The Senate has a Republican caucus called for to-morrow morning, to take action about filling the vacant Secretaryship. There are some reasons for thinking it may possibly be again postponed, but if held ex-Senator Cresswell seems likely to get the nomination.

THE NATION'S DEAD.

Decoration of Soldiers' Graves

Ceremonies Observed in Principal Cities and Towns.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 30, 1868.

All Government business has been practically suspended to-day to allow all those who like to take part in the ceremonies of decorating soldiers' graves at Arlington and other National Cemeteries about the Capital. Arlington was the chief point of interest and the crowd in attendance was very large. General Grant, with most of his staff, a goodly number of prominent officials in Washington and a very large concourse of citizens were on the grounds. Lee's residence was most tastefully decorated with all kinds of flags intertwined with black. Several bands were in attendance and flowers were brought in sufficient quantities to place on several thousand of the graves, aside from the very profuse decoration of the main tomb where the remains of 2,111 unknown soldiers are buried. A large company of orphans from the National Soldiers and Sailors' Asylum in charge of the President, Mrs. Senator Trumbull, headed the procession to strew the graves with flowers, and the sight was most affecting to all present. Depots of flowers had been established in various parts of the grounds and great numbers of those present aided in the decoration. In addition, small flags were put on about half of the graves in the cemetery. The total number of graves is about 16,000. The oration was by General Garfield and was both touching and eloquent. This, with the reading of Lincoln's dedication speech at Gettysburg, were the chief features in the exercise. The affair was far more successful than any of the friends of the movement anticipated.

HUNTINGDON, PA., May 30, 1868.

The late order of the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic designating this as a day for the decorating of the graves of deceased Union soldiers, met with a hearty and gratifying response at this place. Post No. 33, Department of Pennsylvania, extended an invitation to all the citizens to participate in the ceremony. A meeting was held at the Court House at two o'clock, P. M., where a large number of people assembled and proceeded from thence to the cemetery. An equal number were there in waiting, who had not joined in the procession. The Silver Cornet Band of this place discoursed excellent music for the occasion. After prayer by the Rev. Mr. Plumb, and an address by Hon. John Scott, about thirty graves were decorated.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, May 30, 1868.

Nearly all the stores and business houses were closed this afternoon, and a very large concourse of citizens visited the cemetery for the purpose of witnessing the ceremonies of decorating the graves of our dead heroes, of whom thirty nine lie buried there. The ceremonies were directed by the G. A. R., but many citizens, and particularly ladies, joined in the beautiful tribute to the fallen braves. The G. A. R. marched from their rooms in procession, headed by the brass band. Arriving at the entrance to the cemetery, a halt was ordered, and an eloquent and appropriate prayer offered up by Chaplain J. E. Twitchell. The band played a national air, after which Adjutant J. E. Potter read the order for these ceremonies from the Commander-in-Chief, General John A. Logan. Colonel Isaac Gass then made a short, well considered and eloquent address, followed by the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," by a quartette or the Philharmonic Society. The procession then marched to the different graves designated by the national emblem floating over them, and decorated them with a profusion of flowers and evergreens. Bouquets, wreaths and crosses were lavishly strewn by hands of loving friends and now clothe the monuments of the soldiers' dead with fragrance and beauty. The interesting and impressive ceremonies were concluded by singing a national ode to the tune of "Old Hundred," closing with the Doxology and benediction by Rev. J. A. Mudge.

In compliance with the request of the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, the member of the organization in this town and vicinity met to-day, and showed their respect to the memory of their comrades, by strewing their graves with flowers. The procession formed at the court house and marched to the cemetery, preceded by a band of music. Prayer was made by Rev. Eicenberger. Appropriate addresses were delivered by Col. Alexander, Rev. Wohring and Mr. Saltsgaber. The "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by the choir, followed by prayer by Rev. Pilcher. After strewing the graves of the fallen comrades with flowers, they returned to the court house. The exercises were solemn and affecting throughout, impressing upon all present a feeling of stronger devotion for the fallen heroes and an increased respect and care for their living friends.

ASHLAND, OHIO.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

ASHLAND, OHIO, May 30, 1868.

The decoration of soldiers' graves by Post No. 222, G. A. R. took place to-day, and was a grand affair. The ladies and citizens generally participated. At the appointed hour a large crowd assembled at the cemetery. A delegation of young ladies took a position at each grave with wreaths and bouquets of evergreens and flowers, and at the tap of the drum all were decorated at once. A stirring address was delivered by Judge Bushnell. The scene was enlivened by spirited martial and vocal music. The exercises were for a time interrupted by the accidental discharge of a pistol, wounding, though not seriously, Miss Sadie Dosbong.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—The ceremonies of decorating the graves of the soldiers and sailors buried in Crown Hill Cemetery, near this city, took place this afternoon, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic. Business was almost entirely suspended, and the citizens generally joined in the exercises. A procession consisting of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Masonic and Odd Fellows organizations, executive and Judicial State officers, Mayor and City Council, and citizens generally, was formed at one o'clock and proceeded to the cemetery. CINCINNATI, May 30.—The ceremonies of decorating the graves of the soldiers buried at Spring Grove Cemetery were conducted in the most imposing manner to-day. Flags were displayed at half mast in the city and along the routes leading to the cemetery. The day was the most beautiful and pleasant of the season.

Flags were displayed at half mast on the Custom House, Court House, City Hall and newspaper offices. During the march of the procession the bells of the Fire Department were tolled. At the cemetery several eloquent orations were delivered.

MEMPHIS, May 30.—The decoration at the National cemetery to-day was largely attended. It is estimated that five thousand persons were present, the Grand Army of the Republic, Union League, and the various colored societies participating. Flowers were strewn on the graves. There was much disappointment at the absence of Governor Fletcher and General Hurlbut, who were expected to be present. Several speeches were made and a poem read, the exercises being interspersed with music. Nothing occurred to mar the harmony and decorum of the occasion.

THE INDIANS.

Treaty Concluded with the Osage Nation—Murderers of White Men Surrendered for Trial.

OSAGE COUNCIL GROUNDS,
Fifty miles below Humboldt, May 27, via
LAWRENCE, KANSAS, May 30.

An important treaty between the United States Government, represented by Hon. N. G. Taylor, Commissioner of Indian Affairs; Colonel Thomas Murphy, Superintendent of Kansas Indians; Colonel A. G. Boon and Maj. G. C. Snow, and the chiefs, counsellors, warriors and head men of the Osage nation, was to-day concluded and signed, by which the Osage nation cede to the Government and the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston Railroad, purchase the remaining lands owned by the Osages in Kansas, including their trust lands, amounting in all to about 8,000,000 acres. By this cession the annuities of the Indians are largely increased, and abundant provisions made for their settlement in their new home in Indian Territory, the establishment of schools, churches, a saw and grist mill, blacksmith, &c.

Grave difficulties have recently occurred between the settlers and those Indians, and their early removal to Indian territory is regarded as a most desirable consummation. The sale of the lands to the Galveston railroad upon the terms proposed, it is believed, will insure the speedy construction of this important line of railway, connecting the lakes and the Gulf, and add largely to the wealth, settlements and commerce of the Western States.

The day before the arrival of the Commissioners to the council grounds, a party of 346 Osage warriors started out on the war path to fight the Arapahoes, to get revenge for a young man killed in one of their towns a few days previous by the Arapahoes. After being out about six days, the war party returned and reported they had taken two scalps.

After the making and signing of the treaty, a young man by the name of Dunn, living on Walnut creek, Butler county, Kansas, arrived at the camp of the Commissioners and reported that on Sunday, the 17th, his brother and partner, by the name of James Anderson, were killed by this war party, scalped and their heads severed from their bodies. The Commissioners immediately called the chiefs into council, and peremptorily demanded the surrender of the perpetrators of this deed. Next morning they brought two young men, and after about two hours parleying, amid the crying of squaws, and the utmost excitement among the warriors and leaders, the parties were given over to the Commissioners, who brought them to Ottawa, Kansas, and turned them over to United States Marshal Whiting, to be put on trial for the crime alleged to have been committed.

The German Catholics of New York, celebrated Whit Sunday yesterday by a long public procession, which passed through the principal streets of the city. Societies from Pittsburgh, Erie, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Chicago and other cities took part in the procession, also several military companies and a large number of German Catholic organizations of this city and vicinity. The celebration terminated with religious services at the Church of the Redeemer. The procession numbered from eight to ten thousand. The festival will continue till Tuesday or Wednesday next when the visiting societies will return to their homes.

On Thursday night, in St. Louis, Mr. Crabtree, father of Lotta, the actress, had some difficulty with his wife, which resulted in his taking from his wife's trunk $25,000 in Government bonds and $10,000 in greenbacks, the earnings of his daughter and leaving next morning for New York. He also struck his daughter and carried off all her jewelry, leaving her and her mother no money and an unpaid board bill. Crabtree announced his purpose to return to England and live at ease off his daughter's earnings. The affair created a good deal of feeling there, where Lotta is a great favorite.

The Arrest of Nehemiah Ball—His Crime, Theft and Forgery.

Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

MANSFIELD, O., May 30, 1868.

An officer arrived this morning and took in charge Nehemiah Ball, the insane man arrested last Saturday. Ball's crime is obtaining from his uncle by theft and forgery seventeen thousand dollars in February last, at Concord, Massachusetts. The officer left for the East to-day with the prisoner, who still seems to be insane. The officer, however, thinks the insanity is feigned.

A fire broke out in D. E. Anderson's family grocery, corner of Third and Adams, Memphis, Saturday night, and communicated to Joyce's livery stable, both of which were consumed. In the latter several horses were burned. At one time it was thought it would be impossible to save the Northern Station House adjoining the stable, and accordingly all the prisoners were turned loose, including one for murder. Joyce's loss was $3,000, no insurance; Anderson's $1,200; fully insured.

CITY MATTERS.

RETURNED.—Chief of Police Bowden, of Allegheny, who has been absent from home for several days past, returned Friday.

THE Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Manufactory at Bridgeport, Connecticut, has made 319,54- machines. Messrs. Wm. Sumner & Co., 26 Fifth street, are the agents in this city.

HAND STREET BRIDGE.—Extensive repairs have been made on the Hand Street Bridge during the last ten days, and they are still going on. It is expected that both of the walks will be open for travel by the latter part of next week.

THE MONONGAHELA VALLEY RAILROAD.—The corporators and subscribers to the capital stock of the Monongahela Valley Railroad will hold a meeting at Finleyville, Washington county, on Saturday, June 6th, 1868. A full attendance is desired.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—A very painful accident occurred to a man in Jenkins's coal yard on Saturday morning. He was climbing up a wagon loaded with hay, when he missed his footing and fell. In falling he struck upon a pitchfork, one of the tines of which entered his cheek just below the eye, inflicting a very severe injury.

ELEGANT COUNTRY RESIDENCE.—The auction sale on Wednesday of that elegant country residence on the Wilkinsburg pike, near the toll gate, and a few minutes' walk from Homewood Station, is attracting unusual attention, and well it may. The property is very desirable, and there will doubtless be a large attendance of bidders.

GRAND WORTHY PATRIARCHS.—N. M. Pratt, Grand Division Master Sons of Temperance, has appointed and commissioned the following Deputy Division Grand Worthy Patriarchs:
For Division No. 31 John B. Jones.
For Division No. 42 George E. McLain.

BEDFORD SPRINGS.—This popular summer resort, it will be seen by card elsewhere, will open for the reception of visitors on the 15th inst., and remain open until September 15th. A large number of our citizens are in the habit of spending the summer solstice there, and those who design doing so the coming season, should make early application for rooms. There is no more beautiful resort in the county than Bedford Springs.

SKELETON FOUND.—A party of workmen engaged in digging away the ground at Welsh's sand banks in Manchester, on the line of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, Friday, discovered a human skeleton yesterday a short distance below the surface of the earth. The remains were taken charge of, and will be placed in a coffin and interred in a cemetery. How long the body had been in the ground, is of course not known.

BODY RECOVERED.—On Saturday evening about half-past five o'clock the body of Patrick McCook, who was accidentally drowned off the steamboat St. Charles, lying at the Monongahela wharf, on the 22d of May, was found floating in the river near where he was drowned. Coroner Clawson was summoned and held an inquest on the body. Mrs. Anna McCook, wife of the deceased, fully identified the remains as those of her husband. A verdict of accidental drowning was rendered. The deceased resided near the Point, was twenty-four years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

Probably Fatal Accident.

On Saturday forenoon an accident of a serious and at the same time singular nature occurred at the Coal Works of Messrs. Kier, Foster & Co, in Penn township, which may result in the death of a young man named Wm. Hilty, employed as a miner in the pits. A lump of slate had fallen and hit Hilty on the head, knocking him down. In falling his eye had been pressed against a sharp lump of coal, and penetrated to such a depth as to crush in a portion of the orbit. The injury did not appear, on superficial examination, to have been very dangerous, as the ball of the eye was not burst, but was merely pressed to one side. Dr. H. Neal, of Wilkinsburg, was called, and on examination found that the orbit had been fractured, and was pressing against the brain. He removed a piece of bone about the size of a man's thumb nail, and extracted a large number of grains of coal, which had been pressed into the orbit. Hilty is a powerful young man, aged about twenty years, and may recover, although his injury is such as to create a doubt as to the result.

Alleged Robbery of $600.

Frank McElroy appeared before Mayor Blackmore Friday and made an information against John Madiera, Mrs. Hettie Madiera and Joseph Conley, charging them with having robbed him of six hundred dollars. Mrs. Madiera keeps a boarding house on Third street, in the Second ward, and McElroy and Conly are boarders there. McElroy states that he imbibed rather freely of liquor Friday, and then went to his boarding house, where he fell asleep. When he went to sleep he alleges he had a five hundred dollar National bank note and a one hundred dollar National bank note, which were missing when he awoke. There being no person else in the house, he accused them of having robbed him. They were arrested Friday night and placed in the lock-up for a hearing. The defendants all denied the allegation, but one of them states that he took the one hundred dollar note and got some ale and that he placed the change back in McElroy's pocket. The accused were all searched, but none of the missing money was found on them. $300 of the money was subsequently recovered, and all three were committed to jail for trial.

WE understand that the "Star Shuttle Sewing Machine Company" are manufacturing one hundred of their celebrated machines per day, at their works in Cleveland, Ohio.

Disappointment in Love—Suit for Trover and Conversion—Trials of a Lover.

A little over two months ago a young German, employed as a coal digger at one of the mines on Beck's Run, above Brownstown, got acquainted with a young German woman at the latter place. He at once became enamored of the female in question, and their acquaintance soon ripened into intimacy. After an uninterrupted courtship of about seven weeks, during which time the young man professed the most sincere liking for the girl, a marriage was proposed. The young girl of course inquired after his "financial condition," and on being informed that he had about eleven hundred dollars in his possession, the marriage contract was immediately closed. Now it happened that the mother of the young girl was often in the vicinity of where the young man worked, and she was likewise sought a "statement of finances." She was told that the young man had no money, which fact she communicated to the affianced bride. As soon as she learned this, she sent for the gay Lothario, and took him to task about the matter. He strenuously denied it, and as proof of his having money, stated that he had purchased her a ring, which he gave her, had rented a house, and if she would have the kindness to accompany him, they would go and select some furniture to furnish the house.

She accompanied him and the furniture was selected. This was on a Saturday evening. On the following Monday the furniture was to be removed to the newly rented house, and Tuesday evening was to be the occasion of the happiest hour in all his life. Thus they parted on Saturday evening, both going to their respective homes, and promising to meet each other at the Squire's office on Tuesday evening, and from that time never to part again unless severed by death.

On Monday, a sister of the affianced bride, who still considered the statement of finances dubious, called at the furniture store, where the selections had been made, to see if the furniture had been taken away as per agreement. There she learned something which blasted the hopes of the would-be bridegroom, and which was to the effect that the young man had picked the furniture, and asked for "trust" until he was able to pay for it. The sister, of course, made known to the affianced bride the result of her investigation, and a final determination not to marry him at once entered her mind.

The young man was kept in blissful ignorance of this, and on Tuesday evening as a matter of course, repaired to the Squire's office, accompanied by a witness whom he had selected to witness the happy event.

It was a little late when he got to the Squire's office, and expected to see everything in readiness for the performance of the ceremonies. He was very much surprised at the way matters stood, and as he sat waiting the minutes seemed to him as hours. After sitting for a little while he arose and began pacing the floor. Thus the time was passed until nine o'clock arrived, when the young man hurriedly left the office and went in search of his fair one. He called at the house where she lived, but was informed that she had gone out, but none could tell where she had gone. He next called where her mother and sister lived, and on meeting the latter she informed him of her sister's resolve.

He did not swoon or commit suicide as many a one has done, but on the other hand left the house with a proud and defiant air about him, and hastening to the magistrate's office, commenced proceedings against the girl who had so heartlessly deserted him, for trover and conversion. The action was brought, not entirely for the purpose of recovering the ring, but as an endeavor to scare the girl into measures. She was arrested and the ring promptly returned to him, which ended the case. Affairs had now assumed such an aspect that it was useless for him to any longer cherish the idea that she would marry him, and he left the magistrate's office. At one time it was said he threatened to "shuffle off this mortal coil" by means of the Monongahela river, but at last accounts he had done no such rash act, and was pursuing his avocation at his old business.

Our Fallen Heroes—Honor to the Dead—Discourse by Rev. S. F. Scovel.

As will be seen by reference to our telegraphic columns, Saturday was generally observed by the patriotic people throughout the country, in commemoration of the gallant men who died in the late war, by strewing their graves with flowers. As we stated on Saturday, owing to the graves in this vicinity being so widely scattered, it was deemed prudent to dispense with the ceremony of strewing their graves with flowers, and it was agreed, as a substitute for this, that a sermon should be delivered on Sunday evening appropriate to the occasion. Rev. S. F. Scovel was selected to deliver the discourse, which he did last night in the First Presbyterian church, Wood street, this city, of which he is pastor. At seven o'clock about three hundred soldiers, delegations from the Soldiers' League, Posts Nos. 4, 35, 88, 91, 100 and 103 Grand Army of the Republic, and other military organizations, assembled at the Soldiers' League rooms, on Lacock street, Allegheny, and marched in procession to the church, in this city, where they were provided with seats. The flags of the Allegheny Light Guards and Post 88, G. A. R., which accompanied the delegation, were placed in prominent positions on either side of the pulpit. The spacious edifice was crowded almost to repletion by an attentive congregation. Rev. Mr. Scovel selected as his text the 12th chapter of II Samuel, from the 12th to the 14th verses inclusive, as follows:

"And David went and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, from the men of Jabesh-Gilead, which had stolen them from the street of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them, when the Philistines had slain Saul in Gilboa: And he brought up from thence the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son; and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.

And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah, in the sepulchre of Kish his father; and they performed all that the King commanded: and after that, God was entreated for the land."

The discourse was a very able and eloquent one, and was listened to with the greatest attention. The reverend gentleman contrasted the manner of burying soldiers in ancient times with that of the present, and paid a high tribute to the memory of those gallant men who died in the late war for the Union.

After prayer by the Rev. John G. Brown, pastor of the Third U. P. Church, the doxology was sung and the congregation dismissed.

The Alleged Embezzlement by a Bank Cashier.

We noticed the arrest in Allegheny on Friday night of John B. Candy, late Cashier of the banking house of George H. Bissell & Co., in Oil City, on a charge of cheating by false and fraudulent pretense, preferred by Mr. James Bishop, before Mayor Blackmore. It is stated that in addition to the amount alleged in the information, the accused has become a defaulter to the amount of from eight to fifteen thousand dollars. The accused, as we stated on Saturday, was paying Cashier in the banking house mentioned, and recently resigned his position. Immediately after resigning he left the house, and it is stated, his books were found to be hopelessly confused, and, so far as could be ascertained, he was largely in arrears. Some bonds had been specially deposited with him by some individual; there was an envelope found in his desk indorsed with the name of the party and the value of the bonds; the bonds themselves were missing, and no one knew what had become of them or the money for them. There were three entries on one book of cash sent to this city. One amounted to $4,700, another to $5,000, and the third was much smaller in amount. On the letter book were found copies of letters sent to the houses in the city, announcing that drafts for the amounts named had been sent. Inquiry proves that the letters or the drafts were never received. A similar "irregularity," amounting to $3,000, was supposed to exist in regard to a New York house. The prisoner, however, asserted that he could explain the latter affair and seems to have done so satisfactorily. He has also explained the matter of the bonds deposited in a manner satisfactorily to all. He professes to be able to prove that he sent to the three houses in this city letters containing the drafts mentioned. Mr. Candy stated that if he was taken back to Oil City he could explain all his accounts in the most satisfactory manner. His request was granted, and he was taken to Oil City on Saturday night.

Back to his Friends.

Our readers will recollect the publication of telegrams from New York city, to the effect that Robert Ammon, a son of August Ammon, Esq., of East Birmingham, had been arrested in that city on a charge of larceny preferred by a man named Charles Moritzon, formerly a resident of Birmingham. A friend of Mr. Ammon's went to New York for the purpose of investigating the charge, and if necessary to arrange for a defense. Upon the arrival at New York of the gentleman referred to, it was at once ascertained that the authorities there considered the charge entirely unsupported by evidence, hence the discharge of the boy. The conditions of the discharge were that he be returned to his friends. The boy arrived home on Friday morning at two o'clock.

UNION REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

The Primary Elections on Saturday—The Congressional Contest—The County Offices.

Unusual interest was manifested in the Union Republican delegate elections on Saturday, and in most of the districts heard from there was a large vote polled. The voting in the city was very animated, and so far as we could learn the contests were conducted with the utmost good feeling. The result of the election for delegates to the Congressional Convention of this district is largely in favor of the nomination of General James S. Negley, of this city. The contest for representation in the County Convention was chiefly between the friends of W. C. Moreland and General A. L. Pearson, candidates for District Attorney. Delegates in the interest of candidates for other county offices and for the Legislature were chosen in many districts, and the proceedings of the Convention on Tuesday promise to be interesting. Narrow Escape from Suffocation.

A man named John Snyder, engaged at the Lead Works of Foster & Manlily, Steubenville, narrowly escaped death from suffocation Friday afternoon. He was engaged sinking a well to be used in supplying the works with water, and was nearly suffocated by a current of foul air. He fell to the bottom of the pit in an insensible condition. A miner named Moffit had a rope tied around his body and went down and brought the unfortunate man up. Snyder was with considerable difficulty restored to consciousness and taken to his home near by.

Another Testimonial of Skill.

I have been troubled with a very severe pain in the stomach. I have tried nearly everything I heard of, but could not get permanent relief, but since I began Dr. Aborn's medicine I feel nearly as well as ever. I have not felt so well for years. I have gained very much in flesh, at least ten pounds within one month.

The Daily Commercial

MONDAY, JUNE 1, 1868.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

As proof of the estimate placed on the market reports of the COMMERCIAL, we will state that they are regularly copied by the New York Economist, Shipping List, Iron Age, and other papers of this character in that and other cities, and that leading English commercial papers and circulars regularly reprint them with credit. There is neither fire insurance office, bank, nor iron factory, oil refinery, or leading manufactory of any kind that is not a subscriber to the COMMERCIAL, principally, because its reports are the only full and reliable given of the Pittsburgh markets.

MR. WARD says more votes would have been forthcoming had they been wanted to acquit the President. Mr. WARD has testified under oath to enough as to the use of money to entitle this declaration to belief. Perhaps he will consent to give the names of the Senators who would have voted for acquittal had they been wanted.

GEN. SCHOFIELD having been confirmed by the Senate, will enter on his duties as Secretary of War to-day. It is understood that he was urged to accept the position by Gen. GRANT because of his fitness for it and his complete accord with the reconstruction policy of Congress. His administration of the affairs in Virginia has brought him conspicuously before the country as a man of ability and devotion to duty.

THE Republican delegate elections on Saturday were generally well attended. The contest for the Congressional nomination resulted in favor of Gen. JAMES S. NEGLEY, who will doubtless be nominated on the first ballot to-morrow. The contest for the County Convention was mainly on District Attorney, although there was quite a contest in some districts on County Commissioner. The candidates are all more or less sanguine of the result, which will be arrived at in Convention to-morrow.

THE New York Times makes the following admission:

> [illegible]

Results answer that question pretty satisfactorily. Senators FOWLER and ROSS voted and acted like bribed men. The circumstances are such as can be explained in no other way. Having admitted so much, the Times, knowing as it does the way in which these two Senators changed, cannot entertain a particle of doubt why they changed. Even without Mr. WARD's testimony, the suspicion would inevitably be against them. What would the Times say if it were proved that a pistol was loaded, a threat made, an explosion heard, a dead man found with a bullet hole in his head? What, we ask, would be the reasonable inference? And still, this would not be a case of stronger probabilities than the cases of Senators FOWLER and ROSS.

GENERAL GRANT told the committee on the part of the Soldiers and Sailors' Convention that if he did not feel that he had the support of those who were with him in the war, he would hesitate to accept the nomination. It is an important and significant fact that, as a general thing, General GRANT has the support of those who fought the rebellion down. There is deep meaning in this,—a fact that links our candidate with the sacred cause which was saved at so terrible a sacrifice. We have a right to expect that those who stood by our gallant soldiers on the bloody field, will not desert them now. That the soldiers, almost in a body, will rally to the GRANT standard, we feel entirely confident. Already they are organizing, and the prospect is they will be the most conspicuous in carrying on the Presidential campaign. One of the most gallant of the Boys in Blue, Major General PALMER, of Illinois, in a speech a few evenings since, said: "General GRANT, who had so gloriously led the armies of the Republic to victory and imperishable honor, is again at the head of his forces, and would plant the banner of truth, liberty and justice, and political equality on every battlement and fortress North and South."

[illegible]

Such were the sentiments of the Pittsburgh Post only a few months ago—if honestly expressed no doubt they are its sentiments now. They were the utterance not of the politician speaking under party discipline, but of the impartial recorder of the popular sentiment and his own conviction. If the politician, under the pressure of party necessity, has changed and been compelled to speak in another tone, the people have not. They still think as he wrote, and from present appearances they will vote as they think. They believe now as they have ever believed since Gen. GRANT's name came before the people for the Presidency, that his election would be "the happiest thing for our country that could possibly occur." It is precisely in this spirit that the canvass is taking shape. The capitalist, business man, mechanic, laborer, all who realize the importance of a stable and honest administration, are turning to him in the civil as they did in the military service. Nor will they be disappointed. In responding to Gen. HAWLEY's notification speech, General GRANT said: "You may be sure that I shall have no policy of my own to enforce against the will of the people." Probably there is not a man in the land, of any party, who doubts GRANT's sincerity. When he says a thing everybody feels that he has something to rely on. And he has given abundant proof not only of his sincerity, but of his ability to accomplish results. A President ambitious only to execute the will of the people, with no selfish purpose of his own, clear headed, strong and honest-willed,—it will be a great day for the country when such a man occupies the White House. It is the belief that Gen. GRANT will fill this measure of desire that has caused his nomination to be hailed with such unbounded favor.

SAYS the Philadelphia Age: The friends of the ex-President will learn with great pleasure that while he still continues very feeble, there is a decided amendment in the condition of his health, which is no longer critical or alarming. Mr. Buchanan has not yet reached the full degree of years which we hope he will attain. In this community, we have many citizens much his senior who are in enjoyment of health and activity. He has our best wishes for his speedy and complete recovery.

POLITICAL.

It is announced in a Chicago paper that Senator Trumbull will go upon the stump for Grant and Colfax. Mr. Fessenden has signified his approval of the Chicago ticket and platform, and declared his intention to give them his support. But there are those who would, if they could, prevent these Senators from giving their support to the cause which, good as it is, needs the support of as many as can be induced to give it. We do not think it is wise to repel the support of any one. Although Mr. Wade had undertaken to organize a scheme for preventing the re-election of Mr. Lincoln, his support of the ticket was not repelled. Whatever we may think of the course of these Senators, we do not see how their support of Grant and Colfax can be prevented, even if it desirable to undertake it. Journals and clans who propose to fight the battle on such narrow ground render the cause disservice. In New England, we perceive, there is no such feeling manifested among Republicans. While we cannot approve of the action of these Senators, we see not why they should be deprived of the privilege of co-operating in electing Grant and Colfax—particularly when those candidates have no strength to deliberately throw away. Granular minded men may frown this heresy—but how much wiser are they than Wendell Phillips, who openly opposes Grant and Colfax?

Hamilton Smith, Esq., of Cannelton, Ind., a college classmate of Chief Justice Chase, and a life-long personal friend, but a most pronounced Democrat, has recently published a letter in which he accords to that distinguished gentleman the highest qualities of head and heart, declaring that his selection as a candidate would not be unacceptable to us, and might at this crisis of our nation, draw to us and to the side of law and order, and peace, enough of the old Republicans to insure us, if not a party victory, at least, and what is of greater importance, the healing of party and sectional feuds, and the return of our former prosperity.

The Chicago Tribune says that the plain fact is that it is the States which have instructed for Mr. Pendleton that will determine the contest, and it is solely because the Democracy of those States feel that Mr. Pendleton is stronger in them than anybody else that his nomination offers the best chance of carrying them, and the only chance of carrying some of them, that they have instructed for him. And the Times adds: "The Democracy of the West are seeking only for success. They realize that the burden of the fight will be with them, and they assume to know, better than can be known elsewhere, with whom as the candidate they can carry the most electoral votes."

General Grant's Church Going.

The wife of General A. C. Harding, Representative in Congress from the Fourth District of Illinois, has written the following letter to the Rock Island (Ill.) Union, which is published in that paper of the 27th:

WASHINGTON, May 25, 1868.

Editor of the Daily Union:

[illegible]

MRS. A. C. HARDING.

We are assured by the latest advices that Queen Victoria contemplates retiring to Balmoral for a season, which report appearing at the moment when her name had been brought into some political reproach, has considerably increased that feeling. People have long complained that their sovereign should steadily refuse to find a home in her capital. Keepers of shops and patrons of shops, they who sell silks and diamonds, and they who wear silks and diamonds agreed that the Queen ought to encourage the master passion of either class. Statesmen grumbled because the head of the State kept herself remote at Osborne in the midst of a Ministerial crisis. The crisis is not over, the season is but just begun, yet there is an appalling rumor of a journey to Scotland, and a prolonged residence at Balmoral. The hopes kindled by the actual presence of Majesty at her drawing-rooms are exchanged for fears lest the splendors of the season be again dimmed. Such a journey would do much to diminish the loyalty felt among all classes to the person of the sovereign. It might even cause a repetition of those solemn lectures which from time to time the leading journals and some of the lesser journals have addressed to Victoria.

CERTAIN Republican journals are demanding that Judge Chase and Senator Fessenden shall be effaced from our currency issues, and are expending a great deal of wrath about the "standing offense" which the faces of those gentlemen are to everybody who uses money. It occurs to us that a good deal more effective points than this can be made, that at best it is not a strong one, and that it is no credit to any one to attempt to electioneer in this way. Such petty rage seldom enlists the sympathy of men of sense. However worthy of condemnation the course of Mr. Chase and Mr. Fessenden may be regarded, small spite like this is likely to do them no injury.

IT is related in a recent letter that the parishioners of the Bishop of Exeter, England, waited on him with the complaint that for several Sundays there had been no service. The Sunday morning previous the bell was rung as usual, but at ten o'clock the rector's son came and informed the sexton that there would be no service, as his father was ill in bed, and could not leave his house. Consequently the doors were closed. The same evening (Sunday, remember,) the senior church warden "saw the rector behind the door in the Southwestern Hotel in his slippers," and at a later hour he was entertaining a convivial party in the hotel by singing a song called "The Cock-tailed Pig."

THE Commercial Bulletin hits the nail on the head when it says that a large proportion of the taxation levied upon the people never finds its way into the public treasury. It is embezzled by swindling officials. There are also large appropriations for purposes that not only confer no corresponding benefit upon the people, but are a source of corruption by encouraging lazy officials, who are converted from producers into consumers. With the Government in the hands of an administration whereof Grant is the head, will be sure to exert all his power to institute the thorough reform which the people demand.

LIEUT. GENERAL SHERMAN has sent a preliminary report to Congress of the operations of the Indian Peace Commission, in which he holds the Commission should do little or nothing until Congress takes action on their report of December last. The friendly Indians along the Pacific Railroad being charged with the depredations really committed by hostile bands, General Sherman deems it essential that the former be removed at once, even at military expense, without "waiting for the lawful but slow action of Congress."

SOME of the Democratic party are looking forward to the arrival of the traitor John C. Breckinridge as the circumstance which will help to solve the difficulty which besets them as to candidates. When he comes he will prove a formidable competitor for the highest honors.

THE order of General John A. Logan, Grand Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, relative to the decoration of soldiers' graves, was very generally observed throughout the country on Saturday. Our dispatches give an interesting account of the observance of the day.

EVEN the frigid-tongued and copper-bottomed Round Table, is forced to admit that there is little prospect of making a successful stand against Grant and Colfax. Unwillingly it writes as though it knew the jig was up with the Democrats.

THE New York Herald has got a new ticket for the Democrats—Chase and Dix. This, it thinks, would be a ticket "that would carry the country with a tremendous sweep." The Herald only tosses the pictures to be the funniest paper going.

THE parade of the celebrated Seventh Regiment, New York, on Tuesday, was attended by a band of one hundred professional musicians, besides a drum corps of thirty persons.

ENGLISH laborers have been almost stationary as regards improvement in their condition during the last century. The average rate of agricultural wages is 11s 6d, or about $2 50 per week; while seventy years ago it was 7s 11d. The cost of living has risen in proportion with the wages, and few advantages have been gained to compensate for this. In Paris, which may be said to represent France, wages vary from 25 cents to $5 per day, but the average is $2 for men, and from 30 to 45 cents for women, a day's work being twelve hours.

SAYS the Cleveland Herald: A ride from this city to Chicago over the Toledo and Southern Michigan route is literally through a succession of lawns formed by wheat fields. The memory of man runneth not back to the time when the winter wheat stood thicker or more evenly on the ground than it does now, through the wheat portions of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana along the route we flew over a few days since.

WE are informed, on good authority, that the time made in the mile and a quarter dash last Tuesday, was eight seconds better than had ever been made in this country, and six seconds better than the time made this year in the great English Derby race. In the mile dash last Saturday, the time came within one-quarter of a second of being as good as was ever made.—Cincinnati Gazette.

THE SOLDIERS F[illegible]

They Enlist for [illegible]

The following is [illegible] which was made on behalf of the [illegible] Soldiers and Sailors, by Col. [illegible], of Pennsylvania, in [illegible] to General Grant the present [illegible] Convention at Chicago:

General [illegible] soldier and sailor citizens who [illegible] treason, by their representatives in [illegible] annual convention assembled [illegible] proclamation of political principles and a declaration of Presidential preference [illegible] are a committee delegated to present you an authenticated copy of their platform of principles. The principles enunciated are [illegible] concise and expressive. They are [illegible] in their designated choice, [illegible] in their tone and decided in their character. They breathe the true spirit of loyalty and liberty and equality before the law; they conform to the teachings of the fathers of the republic and never lose sight of the golden truth that all men are created equal. They recognize no political distinction between the naturalized and native-born citizen, and demand governmental protection for all citizens of the country who are at home or abroad. They admit no discrimination in legal rights of race or caste, and make loyalty the only test of political privileges. They are firm in their denunciations of apostacy, and speak in thunder tones against the recreants who yielded to temptation. The leading resolution names you as the only and unanimous choice of the survivors of the war for the Chief Magistracy of the nation. The free will offering of the Presidential nomination, which promises certainty of success, is the highest compliment which could be paid to an American citizen. That distinguished compliment has been tendered you in its most unselfish, most acceptable and most exalted form. The act was voluntary, the choice of unprecedented unanimity, springing affectionately from the hearts of your comrades, and seconded by the gratitude of the loyal millions of the land. The close of the war brought the returned soldiers of the Keystone Commonwealth into State convention, where the speaker introduced a resolution proposing you as the soldier's choice for the highest post in the gift of the people. That resolution was received with the most rapturous enthusiasm, and its sentiment was speedily and gratefully echoed from ocean to ocean, and from the chain of lakes in the north to the great gulf in the south. The feeling was sincere, the enthusiasm unbounded, culminating in the expressed gratitude, the expressed love and the expressed confidence of your companions in arms for their beloved commander. Your comrades honor you because they love you, they love you because you have been true to the Government which honored you, true to the rights of humanity, true to the interests of loyalty, true to the principles of justice and equality and true to your honor as a soldier. You were to your country during the rebellion what Washington was to the patriots of the Revolution—"First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of your countrymen." The Republican Convention in the fulness of its love for the soldier, with one voice and one heart declares for you, "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, we will make thee ruler over many." They rewarded merit with their highest honor, they paid their happiest compliments to the defenders of the Government by accepting our choice for the Presidency and making our nomination their unanimous ratification. Our council of war has ended and you are chosen chief. You will find the volunteer army in good fighting trim, the ranks filled to the maximum, the commands well officered and supplies both ample and excellent. The troops are in the highest state of discipline. There was some defection, but it has all been remedied by the promptness and efficiency of a drum-head court martial. The necessity wrung bitter anguish from every loyal heart, heaving sighs of ardent hope and breathing silent but fervent prayers to the Throne of Almighty God that we should never look upon the like again. We are stronger now than ever—more courageous and more determined. We have taken our position; we have posted our pickets; we have formed our lines; we have protected our flanks and are ably supported by millions of militia, with Schuyler Colfax at their head. At your command "forward!" we "will move on the enemy's works." Here is our plan of battle: "We will fight it out on this line all summer," and send the enemy "whirling down the valley." We will charge them in front, storm their breastworks, pierce their centre, flank their strongholds and take them in the rear, when we will have repeated the familiar summons from our Commander-in-Chief, "I demand an unconditional surrender." Our victorious General shall then mount the pinnacle of fame twice dignified by Washington, twice honored by our Lincoln. We have the honor, sir, to submit the plan of battle.

PERSONAL.

—The Rev. J. McMullen, D.D., of New York, has addressed to Bishop Scott a proposal to engage with any Methodist divine in a discussion upon the merits of Catholicism. The challenge has been accepted by the Rev. H. Mattison, of Jersey City, on the condition that the discussion shall be confined to what he [illegible] Mr. McMullen's principal question "Is Romanism a corrupt form of Christianity, in other words, no-Christianity?"

—The appearance of Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont at the unveiling of her father's statue, in St. Louis, on Wednesday, is thus described: "Mrs. General Fremont was dressed in heavy black silk dress, small mauve silk bonnet, and gloves and blue veil, and held in her girdle at the waist two full blown roses of the variety known as the Giant of Battles. She has a profusion of grey hair with rather masculine but expressive features. Her step denotes energy and elasticity, and it is easy to see that she would have made a wise and sagacious counsellor had the General been chosen President of the United States." Her husband is said to have been dressed "in a citizen's suit" though what kind of a suit would have been chosen if that of a citizen had been rejected, is not vouchsafed by the correspondent from whom we quote.

—Ole Bull, the famous violinist, whose career so far during his present visit to the United States has been scarcely less brilliant and exciting than his first memorable tour through our chief cities a quarter of a century ago, begins his farewell series of concerts in New York, Saturday evening, at Steinway Hall. It is announced that he will give only three entertainments there, as he is shortly to return to Europe. He is certainly a man of remarkable genius, and in some particulars his playing has never been equalled since the days of Paganini.

—Says a London letter: Mr. Adams has at last actually put off his harness. He had his farewell audience of the Queen on Wednesday—in what dress I have, alas, omitted to inquire—and Her Majesty made the usual civil speech to a retiring envoy. Mr. Adams started the same evening for the Continent, in one or another part of which he will spend the interval between this and the Presidential election. It has been his purpose, ever since his resignation was resolved on, to keep out of home politics till the pending contest was fought out. If Mr. Seward had any plan of bringing him home by a Democratic nomination, Mr. Adams was no party to it. Whatever Mr. Seward in his senility may imagine, Mr. Adams knows the Democrats too well to suppose they would take upon them an old Whig of his pattern.

—The Burlingame Chinese Embassy visited a photograph saloon in New York the other day, and near the doorway to the street, on their exit, a number of ladies stood to scrutinize them. One of these, being near the rather handsome form of Tung, and forgetting good breeding in her desire to acquire knowledge, deliberately took in her ungloved hand his long and elaborately plaited cue, black as coal, and critically examined it. Tung eyed the "lady" for a moment, a smile illuminated his broad, flat face as he glanced at her own coiffure, and then, bowing, said: "All mine! all mine!" The inquisitive female retired in disgust.

The New England Anti-Slavery Association, (they probably have not heard that slavery has ceased to exist,) has pronounced against Grant and the Chicago platform. Wendell Phillips was the master spirit of the meeting, and of course the proceedings were practically and pointedly in accord with the Democrats—in some respects worthy of the La Crosse Democrat. We record this action with satisfaction. Were Grant supported by these extra-radicals, thousands of better men would not support him. In this regard matters are about the right shape.

Ex-Governor F. H. Pierpont, of Virginia, has addressed a valedictory note to the editor of the Richmond New Nation, in which he says: "Before I left Richmond I hoped that the affairs of the Republican party would be so managed that I could take an active part in the canvass for the adoption of the proposed constitution; but I found that the three powers in the State determined to break down all the political influence I had in the State. Those powers seemed to be harmonizing, I think, not to restore the State to the Union, unless under certain circumstances. I saw that my presence was likely to produce faction, to which might be attributed the defeat of the constitution. Therefore, after mature deliberation, I determined not to let my name go before the late so-called Nominating Convention, and to quietly remove from the State, which I have done."

The Legislative Nominations.

To the Editor of the Commercial:

As I observe the names of a number of gentlemen are being brought forward for the consideration of the County Convention on Tuesday, in connection with the nominations for the House of Representatives I beg leave to suggest the name of Hon. THOS. J. BIGHAM. His services in the past as our Representative at Harrisburg are sufficient guarantee that the interests of his constituents would not suffer at his hands. I do not know Mr. Bigham's wishes in this matter, but have no doubt he would accept a nomination if the Convention should bestow it upon him. We want men in the Legislature whom we can rely upon, and we want such candidates on the ticket as will add to its strength. I suggest Mr. Bigham's name without his knowledge, because I believe him to have been a faithful legislator and always true to his constituents.

NORTH SIDE.

WE progress. If any evidence of it were wanted it is supplied by the action of the Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church now in session in Pittsburgh, in suspending George H. Stuart, Esq., of Philadelphia, one of the pillars of the church, for singing hymns in preference to Rouse's version of the Psalms. If a decent pretext for a return to the Dark Ages can be found, we are not certain but the majority of mankind would vote to emigrate to them.—Cincinnati Commercial.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RESERVES.

Second Annual Meeting of the Association.

Oration by General Todd, at the Academy of Music.

The Banquet at Lafayette Hall.

Speeches by Ex-Gov. A. G. Curtin, Senator Wm. McCandless, Col. R. Biddle Roberts, Dr. Donnelly and Others.

The Next Session to be Held in West Chester.

The second annual session of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association was held in this city Saturday.

The Association convened at the Academy of Music at ten o'clock in the morning for the transaction of business, and was called to order by ex-Governor Curtin, who expressed the gratification he felt at meeting the members, and returned thanks for the honor they had conferred upon him in selecting him as Chairman.

John C. Harvey, Secretary, then read the report of the Directors of the Association, which was in substance as follows:

The first annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association was held in the city of Harrisburg, at ten o'clock on the morning of May 15th, 1867.

In the absence of the President and Vice President, General S. W. Crawford was called to the Chair. On account of the absence of a number of the members it was on motion agreed to adjourn until three o'clock, and the Secretary was directed to publish notices of the hour of meeting at the several hotels of the city. [illegible]

AFTERNOON PROCEEDINGS.

The Association met at two o'clock, ex-Governor Curtin in the chair.

The President stated that a young artist of great promise had made a cast of a figure which would undoubtedly be recognized by the members of the Corps. [illegible] statue of General Reynolds, to be erected in memory of the gallant soldier in the National Cemetery at Gettysburg. [illegible]

THE OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Major John C. Harvey, Secretary of the Association, then announced that the Board of Directors had made the following selection of officers for the ensuing year:

President—Hon. A. G. Curtin.
Vice President—General Wm. McCandless.
Corresponding Secretary—Colonel John H. Taggart.
Recording Secretary—Major John C. Harvey.
Treasurer—Colonel John P. Taylor.
Orator—Colonel R. Biddle Roberts.

The announcement of these names was greeted with applause.

[illegible]

ADDRESS OF GENERAL TODD.

Mr. Chairman and Comrades of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps—I greet you to-day on this anniversary of our association, with feelings enkindled and warmed by the memory of old friendships, and of common labors and sacrifices, and I fondly indulge the hope that this meeting will tend and serve to revive and strengthen the existing ties of comradeship [illegible]

[illegible] buried in far off graves, away from kindred and home? And how many of them were there lying shoeless and graveless under the [illegible] and in the tangled recesses of dark ravines, until the Archangel's trumpet should summon them to [illegible] in the better land the thousands who had died for their country?

> "A debt we ne'er can pay,
> To them is justly due;
> And to the Nation's latest day,
> Our children's children still shall say,
> They died for me and you."

[Great applause.]

But the chiefest glory of the Reserves consists in the greatness and importance of its field service, and on the widespread influence it exerted on public opinion. [illegible]

Three rousing cheers were given for the orator of the day at the close of the above address.

Governor Curtin was called upon for a speech, and said after the audience had listened to such an eloquent speech as the one just delivered, he would not at that time attempt to address them.

General Ent offered a resolution that the proceedings of this meeting, as well as the address which had preceded it, be printed for the use of the Association. Adopted.

THE BANQUET.

The Association after the proceedings at the Academy of Music had been ended formed into a procession nearly three hundred strong, headed by the Iron City Band, and proceeded to Lafayette Hall, where a splendid banquet had been prepared by the Committee of arrangements.

Three bountiful tables extended the whole length of the hall, and at the head of the central table the President of the Association, Hon. A. G. Curtin, was seated.

After the large company had partaken of the excellent repast, which was gotten up by Mr. McGinley, Governor Curtin called on the Toast Committee for their report.

Major J. C. Hervey, of the First Regiment, read the toasts to the President, the Governor, the memory of Washington, and the army and navy. A response to the last toast was expected from Gen. Crawford, but he was not present. Other toasts were read as follows:

Fifth—The volunteers during the late war. They acknowledge no superiors, and claim to have no rivals. [Three cheers.]

Sixth—The Pennsylvania Reserve Corps. Modesty forbids me to say anything of ourselves. [Cheers.]

General William McCandless was called upon to respond to this toast, and spoke as follows:

SPEECH OF GENERAL M'CANDLESS.

Mr. President: Modesty should be always the characteristic of the soldier, as it is one inherent quality in the character of every brave man, and being placed in that position—that is in a sentiment, I am unable to say how I will be able to do justice to the sentiment or express the feelings that well up in my heart in sitting at this festive board with my surviving comrades.

The Pennsylvania Reserve Corps requires no eulogium from the living; its record is to be found on the green graves over which the flowers are being strewn to-day on every sanguine field on which they met their antagonists, and fought to save our beloved State of Pennsylvania. Whilst I cannot then speak of the living, I can with you pay a tribute to the dead.

We meet to commemorate them, not to glorify ourselves. [Applause.] We are but the living relics of that grand division, which when this [illegible]

[illegible] er in numbers, when rebellion, with giant strides, had advanced and marshalled its forces upon the soil of our State, you find them at Round Top, and when rebellion had rolled its destructive tide across the border, it struck your columns and was scattered like foam before the rock. (Applause.) As I said at the outset, that I was not to speak of our surviving comrades; let us pay a tribute to the dead.

But recently passed from our midst he who shaped our course as our Division Commander, who warmed us, as it were, in our devotion to our cause in our military life, and who was with us in many a memorable strife. He was born a soldier and also militarily educated, and he left his impress upon the division of the Reserves. When we followed him to the grave we all prayed the turf might grow green upon his breast, and flowers might be annually scattered upon it, although he fell not amid scenes of strife. I refer to our Division Commander, General McCall, who has been taken from our midst, and who has received an eloquent remembrance to-day from my comrade Gen. Todd, our division commander, whose memory we will all long cherish in our hearts as the one who stood at the head of our columns to maintain the integrity and honor of the flag of our country. (Applause.)

And our grand Brigadier commander, we see his life was laid on its altar at the battle of Gettysburg, at whose name the sentiment of the soldier swells up in the heart of every man who loves his country and the honor of his flag. We point to Reynolds as the peer of any who ever led a brigade in ancient or modern times. Ah! I remember a beautiful sentiment translated from the French, spoken of Murat:

> Where the death pang was quickest,
> And where the battle wreck lay thickest,
> There was Reynolds charging,
> There he ne'er shall charge again.

[Applause.]

Now, comrades, it is gratifying for us to meet together. It is gratifying for us because in the hearts of men who have carried each one his life in his hand, shoulder to shoulder together, there is a feeling that no political sentiment can destroy. [Cheers.] We love to have our comrades sit by our side and gather together the remnant of our band in the strong bonds of fraternity no earthly power can control, and we can meet around the festive board and "fight our battles o'er again" with no outside bitterness or gall in our cup. This feeling is implanted in our hearts. We revere the memories of our soldier comrades, and we respect each other irrespective of political sentiments, and we are of those who love our country better than we love party. [Applause.]

I am proud to meet you, and am sorry, sir, that I have not the speech to expatiate at length, for nothing would give me more pleasure. I stand before you where true modesty would forbid us to say anything good of ourselves. All that I can say is for our soldier comrades:

"De mortuis nil nisi bonum."

[Cheers.]

At the conclusion of Gen. McCandless's address, the seventh toast was announced.

Seventh—To the memory of those of our comrades who have fallen. Ever green be the laurels they have won—ever fresh the memory they bequeathed to their country.

This sentiment was drank in silence, all standing.

Eighth—A. G. Curtin. His wisdom conceived, his energy inaugurated and his patriotism accomplished the great act of Pennsylvania in creating the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps.

Governor Curtin replied substantially as follows:

SPEECH OF GOV. CURTIN.

Gentlemen: Such a great part of my life for the past few years has been occupied with public affairs, and so connected with the organization of armies during the terrific war through which we have passed that I can scarcely separate from my mind the idea that I was one of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps, and I have always felt like a member of your Corps, and therefore when your Association determined to honor me with your Presidency, I felt that it was a high honor. It is always pleasant for me to meet with the surviving men of the gallant body. Allow me if you please to recount a little history in connection with the organization of this corps. The Governor received orders to raise twenty-five regiments of infantry, and men everywhere went to work; telegraphic dispatches were sent to all parts of the State, and men were everywhere rushing to the rendezvous. Six days afterward an order was received countermanding that of General Patterson. Thousands of men were on the hands of the Chief Magistrate, with neither arms or other equipments. The Legislature was not yet assembled, and it was demanded of the War Department where the power to order troops rested. For ten days—nearly two weeks, when the Legislature met, it was held by a factious opposition to this reserve corps. This bill was met at every stage of its progress by a factious opposition, and I thought then, and think now, but for the presence of men about Harrisburg they would not have passed that bill to organize these men to save the cause of this State and the cause of the nation. [Applause.]

The men who organized this corps realized the truth and were satisfied by their judgments that troops for ninety days would never protect the government with eight millions of people against it. Through anxiety to protect the State, regiment after regiment was raised and tendered the government and as steadily rejected. At the instance of the State two regiments were sent down into Maryland and I made that campaign not the National Government. [Applause.] Although a regiment called the bucktails that went down were not particular as to the ownership of cattle. [Laughter.]

Fellow Citizens—I will say so now, for we are all private citizens and I think it is none the worse for any of us. One night the Executive received the memorable dispatch from General Scott calling for help, and before morning the regiments from Westchester, Pittsburgh, and other portions of the State, were winging their way towards the Capital. In four days, eleven thousand men assembled in Washington from the State of Pennsylvania. You all remember this, but it is well to refresh your memories upon the subject. The Pennsylvania Reserve Corps went into the service of the country at a time when most needed. You all know the circumstances. I need not speak of its valor, of how your ranks were decimated, how you toiled and struggled, how you [illegible] in prison pens, and [illegible].

You all remember when we met at Tennallytown. [Great applause.] What magnificent army it was, the first great army sent to Washington regularly organized in all its appointments. When your lines were drawn out on that beautiful day at Tennallytown, and there were present [illegible] spectators, including the President, heads of departments, and foreign ministers, the Prussian Minister said: "This is the first army I have seen in the employment of this Government." [Cheers and cries of good.]

After you had fought here and there at length orders were received to prepare for your reception at Harrisburg, and the people prepared to give an ovation. The ladies had prepared flowers to strew in the paths of the returning heroes. Only a fragment of that gallant army returned, and where were the thousands that went with it? In their graves; they had fallen for their country; your comrades were dead. It is a beautiful thought that in this May day your surviving comrades are strewing flowers upon the graves of their dead. How blessed is memory and how sacred to the people who owe them so much, and to the Government they saved. We have done much in Pennsylvania, yet I have a right to say what I believe is the duty of our government. When you marched to the field you were told that your wives, your mothers, your children, and your friends would be cared for. And we were lavish of their promises. So far as we are concerned in Pennsylvania, all we pledged has been redeemed, and we have to-day, thousands of the children of your fallen comrades in our schools supported and educated. We must not be careless of the surviving heroes; we must look to the care of the crippled men who are needy. Have we done it? Every soldier who passes the street corner turning the handle of an organ is a standing monument of ingratitude. [Applause.] The impression has been spread abroad that the maimed men would be cared for, and unless the fathers of the Legislature make some provision for the crippled men of the corps it deserves the severest censure from the people. [illegible] I had hoped when I returned to my country from Europe that it would find provision made for the crippled heroes. But the first object that met my eye was a returned soldier begging on the street corner. The glory of England is Greenwich Hospital, and there is the Hotel des Invalides in Paris. Every country in Europe, no matter how tyrannical or despotic their Government, make some provision for their soldiers. [illegible]

At the close of the eloquent speech three rousing cheers were given.

The ninth toast was read as follows:

Ninth—The survivors of the war of 1812 and of the Mexican war. We honor and revere them. [illegible]

Col. R. Biddle Roberts was called upon and responded in a witty and harmonious vein to this toast. His remarks were received with laughter and applause. [illegible] tribute to the memory of General Reynolds.

Eleventh—The resident committee of Pittsburgh. To-day we have drank from the same canteen.

The reply to this toast came from Dr. Donnelly, who gave an interesting account of the services of the Medical Corps of the Reserves.

General W. H. Ent gave the sentiment, "The Artillery Arm of the Service."

Governor Curtin proposed "The healths of Major General Meade and Major General Ord," which was greeted with three cheers.

"The Signal Corps of the Pennsylvania Reserves" was replied to by Major Morrill, and Major Hoyt made some brief remarks in reply to "The Commissary Department."

The Association adjourned at a late hour in the afternoon, to meet at West Chester, Pa., in June, 1869, the members joining in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

And Your Mill will do Good Work
Our Saws are Oil Tempered, Patent Ground, made to Run well.
You will find each Saw of one temper, no hard and soft spots in the same saw.
We accomplish this by our Patent Tempering Process, and you can not get this from any other saw maker, as we own the patents for the United States.
We do not claim to make a cheaper Saw than any one else, but one that will run at the word go, and will give no trouble, and will keep round longer; because being uniform with temper, it will not wear on one side faster than the other.

The Daily Commercial

FROM CHICAGO.

The M. E. General Conference—The Subject of Lay Delegation.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

CHICAGO, May 29th, 1868.

This city is certainly subject to a very peculiar atmospheric arrangement. It never "continueth in one way." Yesterday it was warm enough to start serious reductions as to the propriety of linen coats and other light summer clothing; to-day overcoats are in good repute, and fires are burning brightly in thousands of the homes of this wonderful city.

Since the departure of the delegates to the great National Republican Convention, which did its important work so expeditiously, and with a wisdom and unanimity so unexampled, giving a satisfaction so general to the people, the chief object of attraction, except such as are common to the city, continues to be the General Conference of the M. E. Church. The telegraph has no doubt given you the usual synopsis of the proceedings, and it may not be proper to go into any details.

The committees are rapidly perfecting their work, and are now for the most part ready to report. Some of them have been already adopted, and the Daily Advocate prints in every issue others which are waiting to be taken up. Meantime scarcely anything is brought up which does not elicit debate; and it happens at times that the order of the day is suspended to admit something to be introduced, upon the representation that it can be disposed of in a few minutes, when it is discovered by somebody that there is need of amendment or change, and straightway comes the "war of words," and the usual ready champions spring forth in the verbal melee.

Since yesterday forenoon the topic has been the important one of "Lay Delegation." As we foreshadowed in our former letter, the committee on that subject have reported in favor of making such change in the discipline as will permit the annual Conferences to receive into their body any number of laymen, not to exceed thirty, of the age of twenty-five years or upward, having been members of the Church six years, and granting to each annual Conference the right, if they shall so elect, to send one delegate to the General Conference. During the discussion, a substitute was presented, by which it was proposed to submit the plan to a vote of the annual conferences, and of the people, the vote of the people to be taken May 30th, 1869. The debate has been quite animated pro and con. As yet, the most marked speech against it has been made by S. M. Merrill, of Ohio Conference, who claims that it would require a radical change in the constitution, and cannot, therefore, be enacted into a law by the General Conference. The most rhetorical speech on the other side was made by Gilbert Haven, of New England, a Radical of the "straitest sect." It was written and read, a most elaborate and finished performance, but, in the opinion of the many, without the strength and power which a really logical production would have. The most interesting effort was made by the venerable Peter Cartwright, of Illinois, who is perhaps the oldest effective preacher in the church—having been an effective preacher for sixty-five years. He has also held the office of presiding elder for forty-nine years, a period longer than that of any other man, and longer we predict than it will ever again be held by any other person. His speech was in opposition to the measure proposed. The old man made some pathetic hits, and the influence of his address was no doubt good. The likelihood is that the matter will be submitted to the vote of Conferences and people, but the vote will be a very close one.

The election of officers takes place to-morrow morning. So far the coming men are reported to be—For Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society—W. L. Harris, J. M. Trimble and D. P. Mitchell. For Ladies' Repository—I. W. Wiley, (re-elected); for Western Christian Advocate, S. M. Merrill; for the North Western Christian Advocate, G. M. Steele; for Corresponding Secretary of the Church Extension Society, S. M. Kidy; for Book Concern at New York, T. Carlton; at Cincinnati, L. Hitchcock and J. M. Walden; for Pittsburgh Advocate, S. H. Nesbit. Others have not yet been settled upon fully.

The session of Thursday afternoon was occupied with the "same subject continued"—Lay Delegation—the chief performance being the speech by one of the first men in the church, Dr. John McClintock, President of Drew Theological Seminary. In its taste and importance of speech making the Conference was somewhat discourteous toward one of its members in refusing to extend the time for him, and then immediately granting the "largest liberty" to the successor on the other side, the talented President consent. It was a tribute to the selfsame ability, but in the opinion of many the Doctor's speech did neither himself nor the subject the justice of which it is capable. From present appearances the discussion will not close to-morrow, and will likely result in a compromise measure by which it will be submitted to the church. It is barely possible that the elections will take place as formerly ordered, on Friday. No adjournment can now be reached until the middle of next week. The brethren are, however, getting restive and may rush along Congress-like from henceforth, confusion or no confusion. E.

FROM MEADVILLE, PA.

Republican Congressional Nominations—Enthusiasm for Grant and Colfax—Allegheny College Masonic Banquet, Etc., Etc.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

MEADVILLE, May 29, 1868.

The Congressional contest of this district will be a warm one. The various counties have their candidates, and are as follows: Crawford, S. N. Pettis; Venango, Gilfillan; Mercer, Wm. T. McAdam; and Clarion, Capt. Fox and Mr. Frotham. The question comes up then who will be successful. The claims of all are strongly pressed, and their several abilities and availableness duly acknowledged. Whilst there is no organized opposition to Judge Pettis in this county, yet the feeling of many of the people is such that they are willing to concede the nomination to one of the other counties. Without manifesting any feeling whatever in this contest, I am led to believe, after a full understanding of the contest, that Venango county will be successful in her claims.

The feeling for Grant and Colfax is one of general enthusiasm, and pervades the ranks of the Democracy to a considerable extent. Many Democrats with whom I have conversed award our standard-bearers integrity of principle and honesty of purpose, and as such they feel like striking hands with us to elect Grant and Colfax as the people's choice.

Allegheny College is one of the institutions of this place. At the present term there are one hundred and thirty students. The College is well provided with astronomical instruments, chemical and philosophical apparatus. Large collections of shells, minerals, fossils, &c., remarkable for their beauty and variety, collected in Panama, Vancouver's Island, West Indies and the United States, are among the attractions of the College. A museum of art history contains sixty casts of sculpture and about two hundred engravings. The Royal Museum of Berlin presented the College with casts of the statue of Diana Colonna, and busts of Alexander the Great, Julius Cæsar, &c. The College recently had a streak of good luck, being donated by the late Judge Chamberlain, of Randolph, N. Y., between $100,000 and $300,000.

A complimentary dinner was given by the Northwestern Commandery, No. 25, last evening at the "McHenry House," to visiting Sir Knights attending the laying of the corner-stone of the new Court House. S. B. Dick, Esq., Em. Commander of the Northwestern, presided at the banquet. Speeches were made by Em. G. C. of Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, J. D. Hutchinson, of Philadelphia, Ex. Munson, G. M. of Philadelphia, John Shaw, E. C. of Akron Commandery, Porter Church, Dep. G. M. of Meadville, and J. W. Dick, W. M. of No. 254. The banquet passed off highly satisfactorily, and left a good impression upon the Sir Knights of the genuine hospitality of Meadville.

The Daily Republican, published by White & Tyler, is a live newspaper, and doing a noble work in the great cause of truth and freedom. Much of the success of the Republican party in this county is directly the result of their untiring labor.

The anti-Masonic cry in 1826, brought about a convention of those opposed to secret societies, in Philadelphia in 1830. Eleven States were represented in the convention, which adjourned to meet in Baltimore September 26, 1831, for the purpose of placing a Presidential ticket in the field. William Wirt and Amos Ellmaker were the candidates. This ticket secured the electoral vote of Vermont as the trophy of its zeal and labor. In Pennsylvania about fifty newspapers advocated this movement, and among others, one in Mercer county, the editor of which, after a slumber of thirty years, or a suspension of mind, has recommenced the republication of his worn out articles in behalf of the violation of anti-secret associations, and flooded this community with his circular. Disappointment weighs heavily upon some poor fellows, but they can console themselves with the idea which the Indian advanced, that "your preach" doesn't "your pay."

The Park Association have just completed arrangements for races this summer. $1,000 have been expended in fitting up the race course.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

SATURDAY EVENING, May 30.

Money is still in ample supply at the Eastern centers. Call loans for Government stocks are quoted at from two to three per cent. Our own market is sympathising with the plethoric condition elsewhere, and discounts are readily obtained. The supply of money seems ample to meet all offerings of prime commercial paper. The market for Governments, all the week, has been very active, and the transactions have been on a very large scale. The 5-20s of 1862 declined a fraction, while at the same time those of 1867 rose in like proportion. Certain large holders of 1862s for foreign account, began to change 1862s for 1867s. It is seen that the 1867 loan is shortly to be closed, when it will be available for the European markets, which have not been accustomed to take hold of any class of bonds till the amount was fixed and determined. The 1867 loan closes on July 1st, proximo.

The bonds of '67 have been selling 2 per cent. in currency below those of '62, the difference in amount of accrued interest being considered.

The old '65s and '64s are in firm demand, with special activity in the latter, which are now bought for European as well as home account.

The demand for all classes of bonds which, the Government no longer issuing any after sixty days hence, will fall upon the supply in market, fixed and certain, will receive hence forth much added force from the accruing earnings and accumulation of private capital. Together with those coming from Government securities, the annual dividends of corporations, disbursed in the large cities, reaches an annual aggregate of two hundred million currency. The Government will also, under the act of 1862, become substantially a purchaser of its own bonds to the extent of about $22,000,000 coin, annually.

—The New York railway share market opened weak this morning, but rallied and prices closed higher.

The following comparative statement, furnished by J. W. Kennedy, Broker, 80 Fourth street, shows the range of prices for the past week at the New York Stock Boards:

—For express stocks the quotations compare as follows:

—The latest or closing quotations of the New York Board for Government securities are furnished by Messrs. James T. Brady & Co., bankers, corner of Fourth and Wood streets.

Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co., report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

[illegible]

—The approaching Rock Island meeting, called on the 3d proximo, is assuming great importance. The promised success of the disaffected is supposed by some to have run the stock up to 98¾ to-day; but others believe that the market was made active for the purpose of unloading the stock, not having confidence in a satisfactory result from the meeting. Disguise it as we may, it is known by all interested in Wall street, that the parties initiating this call were induced to make their purchases of Rock Island under the belief that they could prevent the extension of the road to Council Bluffs, which would afford a more direct communication with the Pacific Road than that already built in connection with the Chicago and Northwestern Road, but being defeated by the issue of 49,000 shares, they were foiled in their purpose, and now are attempting to gain an advantage for their investment in the Chicago and Northwestern pool. The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, with its large earnings, showing an increase of two and one-half millions over the previous year, and earning more net income than the New York Central, its managers can well afford to allow the Rock Island extension, without attempting to swallow a competing corporation, by a system of devices which, although admirable in Wall street, cannot be commended in other walks of life.

—The Illinois Central Railway has declared a scrip dividend of 8 per cent.

—The Ralston Oil Company, of Pittsburgh, announces another dividend of 9 per cent.

—The following, giving the amount and destination of shipments of treasure from San Francisco in the month of April this year, indicates the proportions which come to New York, and go direct to foreign countries:

Provisions at Cincinnati.

The provision market during the past week has been blue, says the circular of George W. Phillips, Jr., and but little has been done, and that at lower prices. Consumers loaded up heavily, and until they dispose of what they have on hand, will not probably want more; speculators have withdrawn and the whole trade closes quiet and dull. Stocks are unusually light, but with the present high prices will no doubt prove ample to supply all future demand; yet there is a strong feeling with holders that it will pay to hold rather than sell now on a depressed market. The market closes very dull at my quotations below:

Mess Pork sold as high as $28 50, but subsequently declined to $28 for city brands, with no buyers at the close at over $27 50. Country is rated at 25 to 50c less, as to quality. Rumps nominal. Stock about exhausted. Prime pork $22.

Lard advanced early in the week to 18c for city kettled, but closes dull at 18c. The stock of keg is light, it is held at 20c.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY EVENING, May 30, 1868.

During the past week trade has continued in a languishing condition—the inquiry for goods of all descriptions being confined to small lots for immediate consumption. Flour and wheat have been drooping in price. There is very little doing in grain of any kind. Groceries are moderately active at previous quotations. Bacon and lard are steady and unchanged.

The receipts of leading articles of produce per river and rail since our last were as follows: Flour 502 bbls; cheese 201 bxs; corn 1,083 sacks; wheat 35 sacks; barley 27 sacks; rye 512 sacks; oats 384 sacks; and butter 118 packages.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale store prices unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—We quote prime to choice apples at $6@7 50 ℔ barrel. The stock of choice on hand is very light.

BUTTER—Market dull and prices nominal. Prime to choice roll sold at 20@22c ℔ ℔. Very little at the last figures.

EGGS—Demand fair at 20@21c ℔ doz.

BACON, LARD, ETC.—Market is steady, and we quote plain sugar cured hams 19½c; canvassed do 20½@21c; shoulders 14@14½c; rib sides 16½c; clear sides 18c; dried beef 22@23c; and lard 19½c.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE OIL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY, June 1, 1868.

The following are the receipts of crude oil for the past week and from the first of January; also, the exports of refined and crude by the Allegheny Valley Railroad and the Pennsylvania Central, together with a comparison table with 1867:

	Crude Rec'ts by river and rail.	Exp'ts per Penn'a Central.	Exp'ts per Alle. Val. Railroad.
Monday, May 25	2,130	1,267	2,108
Tuesday, May 26	4,544	589	918
Wednesday, May 27	1,190	633	3,179
Thursday, May 28		712	2,133
Friday, May 29		637	2,730
Saturday, May 30	3,938	1,279	561
Total for week	11,602	5,489	11,209
Since January 1	492 962	38,790	140,142
To May 30	504,664	44,279	160,411
Same time 1867	404,640	36,990	130,198

BUSINESS—The week just closed was one of dullness and inactivity; dealers appeared determined to continue apart in their views. The result was a dull market with but few sales to record. Prices were a shade lower all round. Crude holders appear the firmest and manifest less disposition to give way. There is only half cent ℔ gallon difference between these parties. The week closed in a very unsatisfactory manner.

CRUDE RECEIPTS—The week's receipts of crude were very light, 11,602 barrels, against 41,490 for the previous week, a falling off amounting to 29,892 barrels. The receipts from all sources from January 1st to date were 504,664 barrels. For the same period in 1867 the receipts amounted to 404,640 barrels, being a falling off for 1868 of 100,024 barrels.

EXPORTS.—The week's exports were: Pennsylvania Central 5,489 barrels: Allegheny Valley 11,209 barrels. Total, 16,798 barrels against 20,253 barrels for the previous week; being a decline of 3,465 barrels. The entire exports from January to date were 206,411 barrels, against 168,188 barrels for the same period in 1867.

SALES—The week's sales were not large, still they exceed the previous week by several thousand barrels. The operations reach 19,900 barrels against 15,600 barrels. Total, 35,500 barrels against 22,280 barrels for the previous week, being an increase of 7,600 barrels.

Saturday—The market on Saturday presented no particular change. The Eastern markets were generally dull but unchanged. We omit figures. Oil City dispatches say the market was dull and prices unsettled.

REFINED OIL—We are reported the following operations: 500 bbls standard white, Philadelphia, last half August, 30c; 500 bbls do, same terms and conditions, 30c. Sales 1,500 bbls, deliverable 500 bbls August, 500 bbls September and 500 bbls October, 30c. Sales 500 bbls prime light straw to white, first half June, 27½c ℔ gallon.

CRUDE OIL—Holders have maintained their firmness, refusing to give way, 10¼c being the spot rate. We are reported the following sales: 1,300 bbls bulk, spot at 10¼c; 1,000 bbls do, spot at 10½c, and 900 bbls do, spot at the same figures. The receipts were 8,000 bbls; sales 500 bbls bulk, at Snyder's Farm, $3 75 ℔ barrel.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA.

[illegible]

NEW YORK.

The market for crude, according to the Shipping List, ruled steady until Thursday, when there was less firmness on the part of some holders, and some transactions were made, the particulars of which were kept private, but supposed at lower prices; our note sales of 3,500 barrels. In bulk, at 13¼@13½c, 100 do at 16½c, delivered to packages, and 500 do, shipping order, at 17½c. [illegible]

IRON.

NEW YORK.

Scotch Pig continues dull and prices favor buyers. The Shipping List reports sales of 600 tons Gartsherrie, part at $40 50, the residue on private terms, and 100 do Glengarnock, $39, all ex-ship. American is held pretty firmly, but there is no movement; 100 tons Allentown sold at $39; 500 do No. 2 Crane $35, at Hoboken; 400 do Fort Henry Grey Forge, supposed at $34; and 200 do Grey and Mottled, on terms we did not learn. It is a somewhat remarkable fact that during the last sixty days the iron companies of the country, owing to the prevailing wet weather, have made more forge and hard iron than any time before in a twelve month, and a corresponding small quantity of No. 1 than the market before noticed, and the full supply of the inferior qualities. We note the sale, besides, 15,200 tons new English rails, 100 do No. 1 wrought scrap, on private terms, and in good demand, about $50, cash. Bar from store in well held quotations—no sales of invoices.

IRONTON, OHIO.

A further decline in metal is anticipated. Where rates will eventually rest is a matter of much doubt. The demand is very low but the production is great. Indeed, it is probable that more metal will be turned out in this county during the present year than ever before. There must spring up a very increased and active demand in order that prices will be maintained at anything like the present figures. Only little business doing.

Our quotations this week are:

Mill, hot blast	$36 00@37 00
Foundry, hot blast	38 00@40 00
Cold blast	[illegible]
Bloomsburg forge (Belfast)	37 00

Mill iron is weak at 35@36c. Demand very light. The Lawrence Iron Mill will commence operations again next week.

To-day Monitor furnace goes into blast. It is a large and well constructed furnace, and will turn out about twenty tons of metal per day.—Register.

PHILADELPHIA.

The market for pig metal is dull, says the Commercial List, but prices are steady; sales of 2,000 tons Lehigh Crane No. 2 at $36; 200 tons No. 1 at $39; 200 tons Grey Forge at $35; 100 tons Lebanon Forge at $33; and 600 tons white and mottled at $31. Manufactured Iron—is in steady request at full prices. Scotch Pig—There is but little doing. Blooms are neglected. Nails are unchanged at previous quotation; but the article is greatly overproduced. Labor is abundant, the extensive building caves the trade throughout Pennsylvania, and the puddlers demand is light, around Harrisburg getting it. All branches of iron labor are demanding more wages.

COAL.

LOUISVILLE.

The Courier says the question of the coal supply is attracting attention, and best Pittsburgh afloat in barges was sold to-day at 17c per bushel to dealers. The break in the dam at Pool No. 2, in the Monongahela, which checks operations in that quarter, has caused the advance.

CINCINNATI.

The Enquirer says there were some sales of Ohio river at 9c ℔ bush afloat, but holders in most cases were contending for 10c. No Pittsburgh on the market. The prices delivered to consumers were 16c for Ohio river and 18@20c for Pittsburgh.

GOLD

Firm at 139⅛@139⅞. Shipment $234,745. Under the heavy shipments for the week, $4,211,000, and Washington rumors tended to keep prices very steady. There was an active borrowing demand for coin, and it was scarcer than for some time past. Loans were made at 1@6 ℔ cent. for carrying and flat 1-16@1-32 ℔ cent. ℔ diem for borrowing.

GOVERNMENTS

Steady at an advance, with a good demand for all issues. The indications favor still higher rates next week. The conversion of 7-30 notes were very heavy, and will probably reach thirteen millions. There are more in transit, and for May at the New York office will alone aggregate sixty-five millions. The total for the country will probably reduce the amount outstanding to $5,000,000. Henry Clews & Co. furnish the annexed 4:30 quotations: Coupons, '81, 115⅞@116; do '62, 111⅝@111⅞; do '64, 109⅝@110; do '65, 110@110⅛; do new, 111⅞@112⅛; do '67, 112⅛@112¼; 10-40s 105⅛@105⅜; 7-30s 109⅝@109¾.

The railway market opened firm, but subsequently broke under the fall in Erie, but later became active and strong, with quite a general recovery advance in prices. Fort Wayne rose to 110¾, old Southern to 89, and Illinois Central touched 150. The quotations were a little off at the closer realizations, but closed steady. Bonded State bonds firm. It is probable that other boats will get ready for this water:

Grey Eagle	Brennan	Parkersburg.
Argosy	Vandergrift	Cincinnati.

ALLEGHENY MARKS—Ten feet six inches.

MONONGAHELA MARKS—Eleven feet four inches and falling.

MATTERS AND THINGS ALONG THE WHARF.—Trade on Saturday was moderately active, and there was considerable competition among the barge line and the regular steamboats. Freights fell on Saturday to fifteen cents per hundred to St. Louis. The Leonidas "went in" at the low rates; she has a barge, the Monarch, that can carry all the freight she can "survey." The fight is getting interesting; if the steamers procure barges, they will undoubtedly have the advantage. The Argosy left for Cincinnati and Louisville. The Grey Eagle left for Parkersburg on time with a fair trip. The St. Marys will be found at the landing this morning; she returns to Cincinnati at 4 P. M. this day. The side-wheel steamer Ingomar leaves at 11 A. M. for Wheeling. The new steamer Galatea is announced for St. Louis. The Leonidas is announced for St. Louis and St. Paul this day.

THE steamer Grand Lake passed Memphis on Saturday. Destination Pittsburgh.

THE punctual passenger steamer Julia No. 2, will be found at the landing. She will leave for Zanesville on Tuesday at 4 P. M. positively.

WE are grieved to learn that Captain Alexander McGowin departed this life at St. Louis on Saturday. Capt. McGowin was one of our most popular rivermen, and his death will be regretted by hosts of friends.

CAIRO, May 29—2 P. M.—The Magenta, from St. Louis; Sam. J. Hale, from Memphis; Belle Vernon, from St. Louis; Julia, from St. Louis to Vicksburg, passed down to-day. The Tyrone and Quickstep had fair trips for reshipment. The river fell two feet today. Storm of wind and rain last night. Clear to-day. Business dull.

STEAMER SUNK—The Henry Logan, Ironton and Guyandotte packet, was sunk at the Monitor Furnace Landing, on Wednesday evening. When the Telegraph passed down she had careened, with the water up to her boiler deck, and from appearances she lies across a log. A portion of her cargo was lost. It is probable she cannot be raised.

THE splendid side wheel passenger steamer St. Marys takes her departure this day at 5 P. M. for Cincinnati and way points. This boat is the Monday packet, and is in charge of Captain Sweeney, an experienced and attentive officer, and one that will see that passengers have the best of treatment. This boat is already a great favorite with passengers and shippers.

HO FOR ST. PAUL AND THE UPPER MISSISSIPPI.—The first-class steamer Leonidas, Captain James Shedden, is announced for the above ports on Monday. The Leonidas is one of the best boats of her class afloat. Passengers who have traveled with Captain Shedden speak in flattering terms of her appointments. The first clerk is our old friend Mr. John Fisher, one of natures noblemen, and as clever a gentleman as ever took charge of an office. John has plenty of friends and does credit to their friendship.

MOBILE.—The Register of the 26th says:

The C. W. Dorrance has returned unsuccessful from her wrecking trip. It was found impossible to raise the Sallie List. She was raised about three feet, and a diver went through her hatchway. She was found to be filled with sand, and parted amidships. There is no possibility of raising her to any advantage, but her machinery will probably prove valuable, and will be taken off her during the low water season.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—Arrived—Glasgow, from Omaha; Dubuque, from St. Paul; Kenton, from Pittsburgh. Departed—Addie Johnson and Davenport, for St. Paul; City of Cairo, for Memphis; Armenia, for Pittsburgh; W. F. Curtis, for Cincinnati; Emperor, for Louisville. River falling steadily. The Illinois still out of its banks in some places, and stationary. The Missouri is rising rapidly. The Upper Mississippi a fair stage of water to St. Paul. The Armenia has 200 tons of iron ore for Steubenville; 100 tons of pig metal, 600 bbls of flour, and 400 bbls sand for Pittsburgh. Weather clear and cool.

ST. LOUIS, May 29—Noon.—Clear and fine weather again. The Magenta left for New Orleans without full load, having laid here six days at the wharf. Boats from the upper rivers get all the freight they want, and are offered much that they do not want. All the Missouri boats are losing time with the bad condition of the river. The Marcella has arrived with a heavy load. The Putnam and Nightingale left. The cargo of the latter includes 100 empty barrels for Proctor & Gamble, and 400 casks bran and shipstuff for W. Glenn, Cincinnati. The Belle of Alton had a fair race with the Harry Johnson, and passed her twice under way, easily, between this point and Alton.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—8 P. M.—River on a stand, with seven feet five inches in the canal, and five feet five inches on the falls in the pass. Clear and warm. No arrivals or departures to-day except the local packets. The towboat Resolute came in from the foot of the canal up the Indiana chute and landed at the wharf at the foot of Ninth street, in thirty-two minutes. This is the best time ever made up the chute by any boat. Captain Varble was at the wheel. The propeller Kate Hills grounded with a barge of oil on the Louisville bar. She succeeded in getting off but the barge still remains on the rocks. The Westmoreland is in the canal. The Bermuda is due.

GALATEA is the name of one of the handsomest steamers that has laid at our wharf for some time. Besides, she is entirely new, and is a genuine "low pressure" boat, built entirely on the Eastern plan of low pressure boats. The hull was built by Messrs. McCaskey & Kerr, of Freedom, and is of the following dimensions: Length on deck, 160 feet; beam 30 feet; hold 5 feet. The hull was built of seasoned material; besides she is extra fastened. The machinery, boilers and engines were built in New York, and are fine specimens of mechanism, and do credit to those engaged in their construction. The wheels are 21 feet in diameter, with 5 feet length of buckets, 16 inches deep. On a trial trip, she proved very fast. The Galatea is a side wheel steamer, entirely new, has a full length cabin, and is one of the most complete boats that has been built for some time. In her construction, no expense has been spared. Her draught water is 22 inches forward, 24 aft. She will be commanded by Captain Gardener, who has superintended her construction. The first clerk is Mr. Merriman. The Captain and clerks are the principal owners. In a word, the Galatea is a complete low pressure boat, in every respect. We advise parties who take an interest in boating to pay her a visit. The fitting up of the machinery and boiler was under the superintendence of Mr. Jas. Rees.

The Galatea is announced for Cairo and St. Louis. See advertisement.

We understand several of our steamboat men intend making the trip to St. Louis on her, among them is Captain John Noss. The Galatea is a complete boat. The owners have our best wishes for her success.
